A. Definition and objectives of CSIT Championships

1. All CSIT Unions-members and other organisations, continental and sub continental members such as COPADET, ALSO, BAWS (hereafter referred to only as Sub continental Members), which CSIT has signed co-operation agreements with, are expected to participate in most of all CSIT Championships.
2. CSIT Championships are an open event and welcome non-member organisations, partners, governmental bodies, trade unions and companies as well.
3. CSIT Single Championships, CSIT Sport for All activities and the CSIT World Sports Games respects the principals of Fair Play (Chapter 6).
4. So, the regulations herewith should promote the participation of every union, whatever their levels of practice are, provided they are amateurs in accordance with the defined eligibility criteria per sport.
 - a) The mentioned “Championships” can be assembled simultaneously, in one place, with all the technical commissions represented to participate in the competitions, to be known as “CSIT World Sports Games” (WSG).
 - b) The mentioned Championships can be held per discipline in the years between the CSIT World Sports Games.
5. CSIT Championships have to propose adapted number of events (matches, games) to each participant according to his/her real level of practice.
6. The duration and agenda of each stay have to achieve the best possible conditions for the acquaintance and establishment of friendly relationships among participants (sportspeople, coaches, referees, managers): carrying out of friendly informal exchange of sports experience (out of schedule of Championships themselves) and mutual free-time activities (meals, sightseeing tours, and entertainment evenings).
7. Each stay should develop the best possible contacts between sportspeople of the host union and country and the participating delegations (the presence of the host union's sportspeople during the whole stay is one of the most important elements for the success of championships and WSG).
8. To avoid anonymity and promote connections between the good-level international amateur competitions and regional sports for all activities, CSIT recommends that the organizing Union hold complementary local and/or national sports events at the same time and place of the championship in question (to the benefit of the Union members and/or people from the region in question).
9. The Technical Commissions' Specific Regulations and the Technical Commissions and Championships General Regulations are documents additional to the CSIT Articles and, therefore, cannot deviate from them.
10. To optimize the visibility and force of CSIT Championships, media activities have to be coordinated with the CSIT General Secretary, Press Officer and Social Media Officer in advance.

CHAPTER 2. STANDARDS

A. Quality of accommodation facilities:

1. The CSIT championship host Union has to arrange the best possible coherence between comfortable, but not luxurious accommodation, guaranteeing one person per bed – single or twin, with no bunk beds.
2. Meals of quality adapted for sports-people, taking into account the diversity of cultures of participants.
3. Sports facilities corresponding to the criteria of the competition in question, in compliance with the standards of the host country.
4. Schedules complying with the capacity of available local transport and the usual duration of competitions.
5. Additional free time (out of the schedule of the competitions) promoting the establishment of good relationships among participants and acquiring knowledge of the host union and country.
6. The optimal solution could be as follows; lodgings, meals and sports facilities on the same site, not requiring transportation.

B. General conception of the competitions:

The rules for each competition have to meet the following criteria:

1. The quantity of practice (number of games, matches or contests) should be optimal for every participant (neither in excess for amateur sportspeople, nor too few). Competitions cannot be based on "direct elimination".
2. The whole stay shouldn't be devoted to competitions themselves. The TC regulations have to allow for sufficient time to obtain the other CSIT objectives: To increase social links among participants, to arrange meetings among the sportspeople taking part in the event in question and representatives of the native population.
3. Levels of practice should be adapted to each participant. CSIT competitions have to offer various levels of practice so that each participant may both have fun and improve his/her abilities.

C. To reach a better level of acquaintance and understanding among participants:

1. CSIT recommends that the establishment of friendly and favourable relationships among various delegations and guests start from the actual moment of arrival: the first welcome evening should promote initial contacts, such as getting delegations together at their first dinner, keeping in mind the specifics of each sport and age group.
2. CSIT recommends to hold (within the duration of the competition and in compliance with the possibilities) an informal friendly competition, by organizing all participants (coaches, referees, and managers included) to take part in it.
3. At the end of each stay, CSIT recommends holding an entertainment and cultural program, in honour of all participants.

D. To promote knowledge acquisition of the organizing union, as well as facilitate encounters with local people and thus help avoid anonymity:

1. At the same championship's facility (or nearby), CSIT recommends that the organizing Union implements some mass sports events (within the same or some other sport), for example tournaments open to local people and/or national/regional official championship of the Union; activities with schools, workers, unemployed persons, handicapped persons, etc. - whatever the organizing Union is able to fit.
2. During the stay, CSIT recommends favouring relations with the native population, and/or national sportspeople's organizing Union and CSIT championship's participants, for example visits in schools or sporting clubs of the organizer union, common practice when the sport in question allows it, common awarding ceremonies, adaptation of the time schedule in order to favour attendance of local people, etc.
3. CSIT recommends the attendance of the organizing Union's members (participating in the CSIT championship) during the whole duration of the championship (accommodation, meals, and sightseeing tours) in order to improve relations between participating delegations and help them appreciate the town and the host country better than they would do if they resided among "foreign people" only.

Whenever possible, the members of the organizing Unions attending a specific championship stay in the same accommodation as the other sportspeople.

CHAPTER 3. TECHNICAL COMMISSION REGULATIONS

A. Technical Commissions' Role

1. General Framework

Organizing Unions of CSIT Championships or other competitive or non-competitive sports events and Technical Commissions take into consideration objectives bound with the historical tradition, and CSIT aims and practices. All CSIT activities have to promote "the right of each human being to practice his/her own choice of sport, whatever his/her social conditions of life and level of practice are" (see the Articles of CSIT).

The aims of the activities are not as much the results of the competitions, but the quality of co-operation and relationships development among participants, democratic management of the activities, solidarity among implementation of regulations according to which where everyone can participate without elimination, taking into account the diversity of sportspeople's levels (see the preamble).

2. Technical Commissions' functions

- a) To determine the contents of CSIT corresponding sports events and promote the exchange of experience between CSIT and Sub continental Members, non-member organisations, partners, governmental bodies, trade Unions and companies, related to the corresponding sport discipline and culture;
- b) To draw up sporting rules and championship regulations, as well as the regulations of other events managed by the TC, adapted to the CSIT goals;
- c) To establish a calendar for championships and possibly other events, together with CSIT and Sub continental Members, in co-ordination with the other Technical Commissions;
- d) To ensure that the management of championships or other events be held according to the TC specific regulations;
- e) To promote and organize exchanges of experience and training courses among Unions, bilateral or multilateral;
- f) To take part in the CSIT Solidarity's aims by promoting concrete actions of training between Unions from the developing countries and other Unions;
- g) To organize CSIT events in the spirit and behaviour of Fair Play.

B. Establishment of a Technical Commission

1. Only one commission manages each sport or multidiscipline sport. CSIT ExCom decides on the establishment of a Technical Commission. The establishment of a commission will be decided in compliance with the following procedure:
2. Following opportunities are open to the Member Unions:
 - a) Either on the initiative of member Union(s) to hold a meeting to which every CSIT Union is invited to share information about ways of working and needs regarding the corresponding sport and prepare a first proposal of a CSIT event.
 - b) Or to invite Unions to take part in an (inter)national open event which could support a discussion about the conception of a future championship (or event); an informal meeting to be held at the same time to establish the interests of the attending Unions to implement a new Technical Commission.
 - c) Or by establishing under the supervision of the Sports Directors a task force of experts in a specific sport to investigate the potential of erecting a new Technical Commission. The goal is to organize a CSIT Championship in the framework of the CSIT World Sports Games.

3. After that stage:
 - a) The corresponding Unions (at least 4 in number) can make a proposal for the establishment and constituting of such new Technical Commission, including the requirement that the setting up of a first championship and pre-registration of Unions be sent to the Sports Directors;
 - b) The proposal shall be studied by the Sports Directors, taking into account the Executive Committee's policy and presented to the ExCom. CSIT member Unions will be informed officially during the following Congress.
4. In case of agreement:
 - a) The Sports Directors are in charge of organizing a first meeting of the TC (complying with Unions interested to hold it), and of managing the proceedings;
 - b) This meeting should approve the first championship regulations of each corresponding sport or discipline, prepare a future events calendar (towards forthcoming years), The Chairperson and Secretary or secretaries in case of a multidiscipline sport commission are appointed by the ExCom and at least in charge until the next CSIT Congress.

C. Technical Commission Membership

1. The members of the TC are those national experts in sports and appointed by the ExCom upon proposal of the Sports Directors.
2. The members of the TC are partly supported by their Union.
3. The TC Chairperson or Secretary updates the members' list of the Technical Commission and sends it to the Sports Directors.
4. Heads of delegations during CSIT Championships, who are not member of the TC, may attend the meeting but do not take part in the decisions, unless they have an official permit from their Union. The member Unions of CSIT designate a member with the right to vote who take part in meetings of the Technical Commission at the beginning and end of CSIT Championships and WSG.
* The participation of representatives of non-member Unions is desired; they have no voting rights
5. Relating to a "multidiscipline sports" commission (for example Volleyball, which includes Volleyball and Beach Volley) each single discipline has its own Secretary.
 - a) Within such case, the ExCom will appoint for each discipline a Secretary on proposal by the Sports Directors.
 - b) The Technical Secretary(ies) are the sport expert(s) for the respective discipline. In case of vacancies in the absence of candidates a new Secretary will be appointed by the ExCom upon proposal of the Sports Directors and based on availability of competent candidates.
 - c) Some commissions can be managed by one appointed co-ordinator, if needed by the development of the sports in question and TC's current state.
6. Chairperson(s) and Secretary(ies) must respect impartiality.

D. Technical Commissions Management

1. CSIT recognises the specificity of each Commission, according to its sports characteristics. Therefore, each Commission manages and draws up its own technical regulations, enjoying certain autonomy (while respecting CSIT statutes and the TC Technical Commissions and Championships General Regulations).

2. Daily management is by the Chairperson of the Technical Commission. There is a close cooperation between the Chairperson of the TC and the Sports Directors.
3. The TC holds a meeting prior to and after the competitions within the championship. PRIOR in order to check the competitions and program of the stay and inform the participating delegations; and AFTER in order to evaluate the championship, to find new hosts for single championships and implement the TC work.
4. Moreover, the TC can meet whenever necessary, observing the needs of the management and holding of championships and sports events under its responsibility.
5. As regards a multidiscipline sports Commission, a specific meeting of one of the disciplines can be held under the supervision of the corresponding technical Secretary of that discipline.
6. Meetings are valid when at least four (4) Union members are taking part in them, the Chairperson or the Secretary included. Minutes will be written of each meeting (face to face or online) and send to the Sports Director and attendees within maximum 1 month after the meeting. See also chapter 3 H under 2h.

Meetings can be organised face to face or online via Skype, Zoom or other conference software. It is requested to record the meeting. The file of the recording of the meeting will be send to the Sports Director. The file will be stored in the data folder of the specific Technical Commission.

7. The proceedings of the Technical Commission should guarantee that decisions should be made with the participation of the greatest possible number of Unions, as well as the Sports Directors in the capacity as Executive Committee member.
8. Executive Committee members take part in TC meetings as often and as actively as possible, ExCom members can have advisory rights.
9. TC's Chairperson and Secretary or Secretaries are in charge of the work of the TC.
10. They can request voting by (e-)mail in case of the need to make a decision with the vote of the greatest possible number of member Unions. At least four (4) Unions should send their opinion in the former cases.
11. An invitation to each meeting must be sent by the Secretary at least three (3) months before the respective meeting to:
 - a) The Technical Commission members;
 - b) The CSIT Members and the Sub continental Union members and other CSIT co-operation partners;
 - c) The Sports Directors and Executive Committee members;
 - d) The CSIT office.
12. The invitation requests TC and Union members' proposals, so as to draft the agenda of the TC meeting. TC members and member Unions should send their proposals at least one (1) month prior to the holding of the TC meeting in question. Then the Secretary(ies) establishes the agenda in compliance with the received proposals and in co-ordination with the TC Chairperson. He/she sends out the agenda to the bodies as in Chapter 3 under D11 as early as possible before the date of the meeting.

13. TC members who, for some reasons, are prevented from attending a meeting are allowed to send a substitute supported by their Union or to send their opinion on the issues on the agenda by (e-) mail to the TC Secretary.
14. The TC can make decisions either by consensus or vote. In either case, decisions are valid by simple majority votes of the full members attending the meeting. In case of equality, the Chairperson's vote prevails.
15. The TC Secretary sends out the minutes of the meeting to the TC members with a copy to the Sports Directors and the CSIT office, one (1) month after the meeting at the latest. The CSIT General Secretary sends out the minutes to all CSIT Unions, sub continental Unions' main offices (which should send it to their respective Union members) and Executive Committee members.
16. The function of TC Chairperson or Secretary is incompatible with a post of head of delegation of a national federation or team. The TC Chairperson and Secretary shall perform their functions exclusively in favour of the relevant Technical Commission and CSIT championships.

E. Technical Commissions' Annual Assembly

1. Every TC has to co-ordinate its own work with that of the other ones by participating in Technical Commissions annual assembly at the time of a CSIT Congress once a year.

2. Such specific TC regulations must follow the CSIT aims and take into consideration the Unions' participants' characteristics. In general, the specific TC regulations are following the corresponding International Sporting Federations' regulations.
3. The specific TC regulations should favour the achievements and progress of every participant, within the framework of an open sports-for-all development. They are to contribute to the promotion of each corresponding sports discipline, through setting up of exchange of experience practices among Unions, such as training of referees and coaches, as well as sportspeople' ability-improvement (in particular, exchanges among the most innovative and active Unions and those who are facing a lack of motivation and experience – the purpose being to improve both solidarity spirit and mutual knowledge).
4. Each specific case of possible participation of high-level CSIT member-Unions' athletes has to respect the following general frame: a specific category of such level of practice should be created in order to guarantee all athletes' interest (whatever their level might be) in participating in a spirit of companionship and co-operation. Therefore, the programme of the stay has to stimulate strong links among high-level athletes and athletes from other categories, particularly outside the competition (informal games, visits, evenings, and the like).

G. Appointing of a TC member and Evaluation

1. Each commission consists of one appointed Chairperson and one or more Secretaries in case of a multidiscipline sports commission.

TC members will be appointed for four (4) years based on an evaluation by the Sports Directors and decision of the ExCom. Basically, every CSIT sports event will be evaluated afterwards by the Sports Directors with the specific Technical Commission members. In case of not functioning and resignation of a TC member or vacancies a new appointment of a new TC member will take place by the ExCom upon proposal by the Sports Directors.

In case there is no member Union's specialist according to the job description available, also external specialists can be recruited.

A TC member, that does not respect the decisions of the leading CSIT bodies and the state of the art of collaboration, will be suspended by the Executive Committee.
